

BE CAUTIOUS ABOUT WAR
TALK IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Notices Posted To-Day Warn That the Enemy Is Always Seeking Information.

Public notice advising those having business in public buildings in Manhattan to exercise caution in discussing war and war topics was posted to-day in all buildings under the jurisdiction of Borough President Dowling. The notice was prepared in accordance with the suggestion of the United States Bureau of Public Information. Things to remember are that the enemy is always seeking information, and he may benefit by the careless talk of loyal Americans; not to discuss in public or with strangers any information as to military or naval preparations, or any news of troops or transport movements; that you should not permit your friends in the service to come to your knowledge; you may, by discussing them, be serving the foe and jeopardizing the lives of your relatives, friends and allies, and that the enemy may be not only at our door but at our elbow.

COL. A. W. CATLIN
WOUNDED AT TORCY;
GALLANT RECORD

New Yorker Served in Every Part of World—Commanded Marines at Vera Cruz.

One of the best known men in Gen. Pershing's latest casualty list is Col. Albertus Wright Catlin, severely wounded in the marines' advance at Torcy, the head of the German salient facing Paris. His home is given as Washington, but his gallant record is known all over the world. He is a native of Rome, N. Y.

Col. Catlin is a former commanding officer of the Atlantic Fleet Marines and once commanded the Legation Guard in Peking, China. He was graduated from Annapolis twenty-five years ago and has served in every part of the world. He was the marine officer on guard on the battleship Maine when she was sunk in Havana Harbor, and he has seen service in Cuba, the Philippines and Mexico. He was in charge of the entire force of marines in the expedition to Vera Cruz in 1914, and was awarded the Medal of Honor for distinguished service. He sailed for France in October in command of the Sixth Regiment of Marines.

Capt. John J. Blanchfield, killed in action, while in command of a Marine Corps unit, had written his wife only a short time ago, "Don't worry, dear, I am as safe here as if I were on Fifth Avenue." His wife and young daughter live at No. 108 Ryerson Street, Brooklyn. He enlisted in Buffalo in 1903 and rose from the ranks. He was among those sent to Nicaragua in 1912 and was one of the first to land at Vera Cruz in 1914. He was on duty in the Brooklyn Navy Yard as a Sergeant Major when commissioned a Second Lieutenant and sent to France. In October he was made a Captain.

"My husband was always anxious to be among the first in everything that came along," said Mrs. Blanchfield.

The killing of three Brooklyn boys by the accidental explosion of a bomb disclosed that the 77th Division, known as the Metropolitan, and made up of drafted men from New York and vicinity, has been in the fighting recently. The 36th Infantry is a unit of this division.

The three Brooklyn boys killed in the single accident were Privates Frederick Schwab, Benjamin Pudifcato and Domenico Caputo. They were drafted and were in Company

R. 36th Infantry, and had been neighbors and chums in Brooklyn. Caputo lived at No. 597 Park Avenue, and was drafted in October a short time after death had wiped out his little family, consisting of a wife and child.

John Morrone, twenty-four, of Roslyn, L. I., named among those killed by accident, was drafted last fall. He was unmarried. He had tried several times to get back to Italy to fight with its armies, and when drafted said his one hope was to get to the front quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lawless of West Orange have been notified that their son, Corp. Thomas F. Lawless of the 6th Engineers, is in an American hospital in France suffering from shell shock. He has eleven cousins fighting in France.

Private Nils Oscar Anderson, reported killed by accident, formerly lived with his wife, Marie, at No. 11 St. Mark's Place, Brooklyn. He was also a member of the 305th Infantry. His wife is at present in a hospital, where a baby daughter was recently born.

Private George W. Scallan, whose death was due to disease, was born in Brooklyn twenty-two years ago, and lived with his parents at No. 645 19th Street. He sailed with the old 69th Regiment. He recently wrote his mother: "It's just as safe in the trenches as in 14th Street, New York."

Strike Shifts Convention From Clifton Springs to New Rochelle.

The annual convention of the International Missionary Union opened at New Rochelle last night and sessions will be held daily and nightly until Sunday. The convention has always been held at Clifton Springs, but because of strike conditions at their meeting place there the meetings are being held at the New Rochelle First Presbyterian Church.

An informal reception was held to-day at the residence of Rev. Dr. Stone.

Police Band Plays in City Hall Plaza at Noon.

About 5,000 persons to-day enjoyed the first of the Hyatt "people's concert" by the Police Band in City Hall plaza at noon. It opened with "America" and closed with "The Star Spangled Banner." In between were a dozen classic and patriotic selections. The concert will be given in various parts of the city by the Police, Fire and Street Cleaning Department bands. The idea originated with the Mayor.
